

“AMERICA IS ONE SIGNATURE AWAY FROM ENDING THE IRAQ WAR.”

~ Senator Barack Obama

April 25, 2007

A piece of paper will soon be placed on George Bush's desk in the Oval Office for him to sign. By picking up a pen and signing his name to it, he could end the war in Iraq.

The House and Senate passed a bill that would provide for our troops in harm's way and require the start of a redeployment to bring them home.

We're one signature away – just one signature away from ending the tragic mistake that has cut short thousands of American lives, cost tens of billions of dollars, and destroyed America's global moral leadership. But only if the president signs the bill.

This is how simple it would be...

Here's my signature:

X

Tell everyone you know how simple it would be for George Bush to respect the overwhelming majority of Americans and use his signature to end the Iraq War now.

If you see this posted somewhere, take a photo and email it to photos@barackobama.com. If you want to download your own go to www.barackobama.com/one

Paid for by Obama for America